Pacy & Wheatley were a very helpful contractor from pre-construction stage all the way through final completion. They engaged and contributed into all site meetings we requested them to attend including weekly coordination meetings and design workshops. They flexed and adapted to ever changing site challenges throughout the project and adjusted labour numbers to suit our site requests.
Their works were to a high standard, and you could see the site team had pride in their works which is lovely to see. All in all, a good professional company to who I would welcome onto my site anytime in the future.
